

Supertato

It was night time in the supermarket and all was quiet but Crash! Bang! Something small and round and green had escaped from the freezer. Something looking for trouble. BIG trouble.

"Help!" cried the Carrot.

"Argh!" cried the Broccoli.

Was there anyone who could help these vegetables in distress? Supertato to the rescue! He used his super speed. He used his super strength. He used a flannel and some soapy water. "I know who's behind this! There's a pea on the loose!" shouted Supertato. "Yes, a pea! I'm out of the freezer now and I'm never going back! Mwahahaha!"

Supertato set out on a super search. He crept through the cakes. He checked the cheese. He snuck up on the beans. Suddenly something caught his eye. Something small and round and green. The pea bounced out of reach and the trolley crashed. Supertato was thrown into the icy depths of the freezer. Was this the end for Supertato? Supertato summoned up all his strength and ran for it. The pea nearly had him at the beans and closed in on him at the cheese. He had him cornered at the cakes. "You're about to be mashed potato!" said the pea.

Was this the end for Supertato? "Gotcha! I set a trap for you and you fell for it! Take him away!" yelled Supertato proudly. Then the pea was marched back to the freezer where he belonged.